ABOUT ME

I am by nature a team player working at my best in environments requiring team work, creativity and personal initiative. I appreciate the mutual exchange of ideas and motivations which underpin the values of a successful team where cooperation and working together are key. I am tenacious: determination and flexible finding new ideas and solutions where the occasion calls for it. People find me resolute with a passionate and creative approach. Having a project and working for people and culture encourages me to improve and challenge my skills and abilities; I'm truly warm interested in enterprises involved in promoting, through appropriate socio-cultural initiatives, the production of quality activities with the aim of involving people in biggest issues of our time.
